God's House or My House

It had started well. The foundation had been laid rather quickly. However, after almost 10 years the foundation was still as it was. We are talking about the Temple of God. Babylon had destroyed Jerusalem and plundered the Temple, leaving it in ruins. They had taken many of the people captive and took them back to Babylon. Eventually the Persians defeated the Babylonians and king Cyrus allowed the Jews to return to Judea. When they returned, they began rebuilding the Temple. They got as far as the foundation and then abandoned the work.

God calls the prophet Haggai to challenge the people to return to the work. God says, "Is it time for you yourselves to be living in your paneled houses, while this house remains a ruin?". God is saying that they had abandoned the work of the Temple to build their own fine houses.

Now, we don't have a Temple like the Jews did. However, there can be a lesson to be learned from their actions, or lack of action. They were more concerned about and spent more effort on their own homes, while neglecting God's house. We can get so busy with our lives that we neglect the spiritual lives of our family, ourselves and our church family. As an individual, as a family, where are your priorities? Is God first? How do I know?

Maybe we can ask ourselves some pointed questions:
- Do I put God and His service first in my life, or do I give Him the leftovers?
- Before I do or commit to anything, do I ask if it helps me glorify God?
- If someone else examined my life, from the evidence they would see, would they conclude that God was my first priority?

We never want God to be able to say to us that we have spent time building our house, and not His. May we all make sure that our spiritual house is in order.

- Tim
